My dear J

We have just returned and did not come to Cambridge on acct of the meeting of the American Gynecological Society in Washington which necessitated our at once going South and thus you can well imagine we lounge for home.

In Washington I saw Hilgard - a broken down, old man -

How sad - His wife - a Terror - and the death of his son, drove him to drink and he ignored the warning which was gently given -

Then the How full - sad - and I am grateful that father was spared this and some other unfortunate occurrences which have happened in St Louis among our friends of late.

so also the loss of another investment - which he had made to his friends - with merely their note as security - not as large a sum as the previous one, but just as mortifying in its character -

We are well and ready for work - Enclosed letter of Pamy's I have received and as written I hear from you - telling him much that I will be grateful for his coming here -

Bret. I must see you - from the way in which father's notes are scattered it will be impossible to make more than a republication of the intended work -

Let that be done - for that can be done - a complete republication more would lead to endless and difficult work - That can only be done with the Vaticanum -

But give me your idea and I will at once answer

I had hoped that the simple republication might be done with but little trouble to you. Anything more would take both you and the Herbarium.

My offers to the various Herbaria I have not yet made

To Dr Weber I wrote from Paris but received no answer - so I shall write again - but mean to enquire about him - to Brewer I will write soon -

Shall we have a glimpse of you this winter?
About smatter here I have heard nothing - Elliot - Shaw - but will enquire - With kindest regards to yourself and Mrs Gray - and best wishes for your health - I enclose you. Geo Engelmann
